

Invest in WONE to identify health risks early and prevent avoidable costs

Most organisations have plenty of health tools - insurance, EAPs, wellbeing apps. The problem is they respond to problems that have already happened. By the time they're used, costs are already incurred: health claims, absence, churn.

WONE identifies and takes action on upstream health risks before they become claims, absences or resignations.

For organizations

Health risk analytics

Aggregated health risk analytics, giving data, and insight to act before costs escalate.

Strategic consulting

Bespoke initiatives to embed resilience through the whole organisation.

For individuals

Ori, WONE's AI coach

Personalised coaching that adapts over time, for sustained engagement and real impact.

Impact-led content

High quality, expert-led platform content rooted in stress and resilience expertise.

Together, these shift wellbeing from a benefit cost to a measurable business investment, with the organisational intelligence to act before problems escalate.
